ARCHITECTS' NOTES

Brockie & Hastings, architects, 328 Chestnut street, have completed plans and specifications and sent same out to builders for estimates for a new stable to be built at Chestnut Hill, Phila., for Charles A. Barclay, Esq. It will be two stories high and will be constructed of stone and frame. It will have the usual sanitary stable appointments.

The congregation of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal have purchased the site at the northwest corner of Broad and Venango streets and upon this site will erect a handsome new edifice to cost $100,000. The lot measures 100x137 feet. Several months ago their property at Twenty-first and Chestnut streets was sold to the Lutheran church of the Holy Communion for $200,000. We believe as yet no architect has been selected.

David Knickerbacher Boyd, architect, Harrison Building, has purchased a lot on Aberdeen avenue, Wayne, Pa., and upon this site will erect a handsome residence for himself. It will be two and a half stories high and will be built of stone and frame and will have a porch on the front and sides. The interior will be in hardwood finish and it will have all modern improvements.

Carl P. Berger, architect, South Penn Square Building, has plans contemplated for 100 fire-proof houses to be built in Lehigh county. They will be three stories high, of various designs and will be built of brick and stone with all modern improvements. Also a fine residence to be built at Oak Lane. It will be three stories high of brick and stone and contain 12 rooms. The exact locations and owner's name withheld.

A. E. Westover, architect, Keith Theatre Building, is working on plans for a new theatre to be built at Twelfth street and Twelfth avenue, at Altoona, Pa., for I. C. Mishler. It will be four stories high, 120x141 feet, and will contain two galleries and will be constructed of brick and stone and will be fire-proof in its construction. It will contain all modern and up-to-date appointments of a first-class theatre. It will cost $100,000. It will not be ready for some time by bids.

(COMPLETE)

Our Regular Annual Report of Construction Work for 1903, Including all Records of Transfers of Real Estate for the Year

5660 New Buildings of all Kinds, Costing $27,612,625 Exclusive of the Cost of the Land, 875 More New Buildings than in 1902, and the Investment on the Same Basis of Estimated Cost is $3,919,682 Greater

2097 Alterations and Additions (Costing $300.00 Each and Over) Costing $3,145,500, against 2205 in 1902, Costing $3,307,500. There Were 108 Less of this Class of Improvements Last Year than in 1902, and the Investment is $162,000 Less

Total Expenditures for Building Improvements During 1903—$31,058,125, While in 1902 they Amounted to $27,300,443

18156 Transfers of Real Estate during 1903, Representing a Value of $96,372,879.84. In 1902 There Were but 15,524, and the Consideration Amounted to $91,207,302.91

It will be recalled that during 1903 we several times predicted that the transfers of real estate would reach a total for the year of at least $100,000,000.

That we are short in our guess by just $3,627,120.16 is not in the least discouraging, for our present convictions are that had it not been for the influences of the publicity given to the increased assessed value of real estate in this city during the latter part of the year our predictions would have been more than realized. It must not be forgotten that besides the tangible increase in assessed values it was argued "in court" as well as "out of court" that the necessities of the city had become so great that while the tax rate had been reduced to $1.50 per hundred it must and would ultimately be raised again to the old rate of $1.85 per hundred and probably to $2.00.

It is senseless to argue that this opinion, which was publicly expressed, had no influence in discouraging purchasers. We know that it had some, but to what extent cannot be estimated.

It is remarkable how the transfers of real estate stood up during the months of November and December, for in these two months alone there were 3,275, and the consideration paid on these amounted to $16,872,242.66.

The achievements of our builders during 1903 merit the high commendation, for notwithstanding the multitude of discouragements the yearly record is as creditable to the city as it is to those who surmounted the many difficulties of strikes as well as the stringency of money and persisted to the end, with the above handsome showing as the result.

It will be seen by our tables that we have 958 more two-story dwellings in 1903 than in 1902, and that the investment is greater by $1,016,000, while we record 69 less new three-story dwellings than in 1902, and the investment is consequently less by $262,200. This decided preference for the two-story dwelling with its neatly arranged compact accommodations becomes a potent factor in cutting down the sum total of building construction work, whether it be as the result of the West Philadelphia craze for the band-box dwelling or through any other cause.

Builders are compelled to cater to sentiment just as much as the manufacturer of women's gowns are, and so long as the "honeymoon" rows as they exist in West Philadelphia to-day prevail to the extent of shaping and controlling the demand for two-story dwellings to almost the exclusion of the three-story dwelling the two-story dwelling will surely dominate the market both for selling and renting, all other influences to the contrary notwithstanding.

The following is a table of yearly dwelling construction in this city from 1889 to 1903 inclusive, and it may be wise to state for the benefit of those who do not know that the work of our operative builders embraces the two and three-story dwellings:

	Two-story Dwellings	Three-story Dwellings	Four-story Dwellings	Total
1887.....	4559	1628	3	6201
1888.....	5987	1436	14	7437

1903.....	4395	704	30	5129
	78,072	25,135	333	103,540

The 103,540 dwelling houses of all kinds, including stores and dwellings erected in this city during the last seventeen years, represent a yearly average of 6,090, affording ample provision for wholesome living accommodations for five persons at least to each dwelling, or for a yearly increase of population of over $30,000.

Of course, this must be discounted to an extent equal to the influence the fad for suburban homes has in drawing from this natural yearly increase of population, and while it is considerable we think it is largely overestimated, for everyone must concede that the dwelling houses of this city are at present generally well occupied, which would not have been the fact if the suburban yearly drains were as great as many suppose.

We are of the opinion that the suburban fad has already reached its maximum, for it would seem that the value of land in that direction has already reached a point in the more popular sections as to become prohibitory except for gentlemen of wealth.

So long as the industries of the city remain without serious impairment, our small dwellings will continue in demand, and while the men at the head of our manufacturing institutions continue to exercise their characteristic foresight and shrewdness and continue to expand and extend our manufacturing facilities there can be no just reason for pessimistic opinions as to the dwelling house question.

In this respect the following table of industrial buildings from 1889 to 1903 inclusive, will prove interesting:

COREAN ARCHITECTURE

The Korean style of architecture is suited to anything but an extreme climate such as prevails there. During the winter months it is very cold. The houses are made of bamboo frame work, plastered within and without with adobe mud. The roof is thatched with rice straw, which is weather-proof. The inside may be made into one room by the sliding back of a screen-like partition. Just why these were introduced it is impossible to say, for they are but rarely used, as privacy is never desired in Korea. This open space becomes the living room, and even when travelers are passing along and must halt for the night, they are invited to share a common sleeping place on the floor with the entire family. The discomfort of such an experience is extreme during the summer. In the kitchen, which is just without the living room, there is located a most curious kind of a stove. From this clay pipes extend under the floor to the living room. They warm the house summer and winter alike, for it has never entered their minds that some means could be devised whereby the heat could be turned off from the other quarters.—From the Housekeeper.

OLDEST FIRE ENGINE

The original fire engine, the first machine of its kind ever made, is preserved in the old parish church at Dartmouth, England. It is only four feet long and four feet six inches in height. The car rests on four small wheels, and the hose is attached to the top. A clumsy lever placed at the back of the car sets the machine in motion. The stream thus forced through the pipe was very small and doubtless had very little efficiency.

THE LEANING TOWER SOLD

Bologna's most singular structure, the leaning Garisenda tower, which was begun in 1110 by Filippo and Ottone Garisenda, and which was owned by the Marquis Malvezzi, has been purchased by Baron Raimondo Franchetti, who is well known as a composer. The Garisenda tower is only 163 feet high, but it is 10 feet out of the perpendicular. Dante, in his "Inferno," compares the Giant Antaeus, who bends towards him, to this tower, "when a cloud passes over it." The obliqueness of the tower was occasioned by the settling of the foundations.

AMERICAN USE OF ELECTRICITY

America leads the way in the application of electricity. In his presidential address to the Institution of Electrical Engineers Mr. Kave Gray mentioned a plate-glass works which there were four generating sets of 4 kilowatts each and one of 350 kilowatts; there were also twenty motors of 450 horse power each and twenty of 200 horse power. Another concern using electricity on a large scale was a colliery, which possesses a plant of 2,900 kilowatts capacity and comprises forty-four mining locomotives and seventy-five miles of underground trolley wire. The dominating factor in regard to the employment of electric power is, of course, that of efficiency compared with cost. Mr. Gray made a comparison between the Carnegie works and Krupp's at Essen. "At the Carnegie works," he said, "electricity is used for almost everything required. It is stated that in Homestead Steel Works of Pennsylvania by the aid of electricity 4,000 men make as much steel as is made by Krupp's with 15,000 men."—London Telegraph.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JAN. 13, 1904

STATEMENT OF THE NORTHERN TRUST COMPANY

The thirty-second annual statement of the Northern Trust Company, of which Mr. W. Frederick Snyder is the president, will be found in this issue. With a capital stock of $500,000 full paid its surplus is now $675,000.00. Undivided profits after a four per cent. semi-annual dividend amounts to $13,786.66, while its deposits aggregate $5,179,955.22. The company's list of assets is given in detail, the aggregate being $6,388,741.88. No better evidence as to the careful and conservative management of the affairs of the Northern Trust Company can be needed than this self-same list of investments, the most of which possess a market value considerably greater than the par value. The statement merits a careful perusal.

THE SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL GERMAN-AMERICAN CHARITY BALL.

If there is a single organization in the city that merits the earnest support of our citizens more than another, it is the old German Maennerchor Society of this city, for notwithstanding the labor, care and anxiety its members bestow upon the preparations necessary to make the society's annual ball a monetary as well as a popular success, every dollar of its net proceeds is given to charity. It is hardly possible to estimate how far reaching this charity really is, for the merits of the institutions to which the appropriations are made after the ball are thoroughly investigated by a committee appointed for that purpose. The advertisement of the society's seventeenth annual charity ball, February 8 next, appears in this issue. Admission with two ladies is $5.00. Spectators' tickets 50c. each.

REMOVAL

The Asbestos Manufacturing Company have removed their offices from 426 Market street to 1200-1202 Land Title Building, Broad and Chestnut streets.

THE WM. KRAUSE CALENDAR

Wm. Krause, patent pavements, cement and asphalt floors, 1640 Marshall street, has kindly sent us one of his calendars for 1904.

It is so large and impressive that those who run may read. The calendar bears a good likeness of Mr. Krause as well as of his father, who were the originators of a griffinal stone, the business having been established in 1851.

A material for preventing loss by fire and danger to life from the short-circuiting of high voltage electrical wires, for which the trademark "Nia-grite" has been adopted, is being placed on the market by the H. W. Johnson-Manville Company. "Nia-grite" is furnished in strips of several widths from three inches to thirty-six inches, suitable for wrapping spirally on electrical cables, and is held in place with asbestos fireproof glue, thus protecting the cables from external fire and confining any internal fire. The material presents a very neat and permanent finish and is not affected by atmospheric conditions. It has been adopted by the Niagara Falls Power Company, the International Power Company, Buffalo Street Railroad Company, New York Edison Company, and other important electrical plants. Full particulars may be obtained from the Asbestos Department of the H. W. Johnson-Manville Company, 100 William street, New York.

The Mechanics Insurance Company, office 500 Walnut street, celebrates its fiftieth annual anniversary by presenting to its policy holders a statement exceedingly flattering to its business managers, and which at the same time imparts an assurance of security to those holding the company's policies of insurance.

The statement in full appears in our advertising columns, and is well worth a perusal. Simon J. Martin, President; Chas. J. Gallagher, Vice-President; John A. Snyder, Secretary.

A BEAUTIFUL LANDSCAPE WHICH INCLUDES THE CEDAR HOLLOW LIME KILNS

The Charles Warner Company, of Wilmington, Del., has sent us a most attractive landscape, showing in the foreground its two limekiln plants, the Cedar Hollow and the Whitehall, the latter having been a recent acquisition. The old Cedar Hollow plant with its traditions dating back long before the Revolution, is a land-mark in the Nation's history around which were centered some of the most thrilling episodes of that war.

The old plant, while now modern in every particular, is still doing good service, for it is here that the Charles Warner Company makes the lime out of which the popular "Limoid" is made, as well as the Cedar Hollow lump lime and ground lime.

It is stated that the product of the Whitehall plant will be equal in every way to that of the Cedar Hollow plant.

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK INSURANCE PATROLS

During 1903 the fire insurance patrol of Chicago answered 8,051 alarms and spread 10,836 covers. A new house was opened on May 30 at 25 Michigan avenue. This allows two wagons to answer all first alarms in the business district and west to Jefferson street and north to Indiana street. The appropriation for the year was $110,000 for the city companies and $10,000 for that at the stock yards, and expenditures were kept within this amount. During the eight months from May 1 to December 31, 1903, there resulted from 716 losses handled by the New York Fire Insurance patrol an insurance loss of $2,587,775, out of a total insurance of $857,578,483. These losses include only those having three or more board members. For the same period in 1902 there were 625 of such losses, involving $60,335,509 and an insurance loss of $3,043,384.79. There is shown an increase of about fifteen per cent. in the number of losses handled and a decrease of about fifteen per cent. in the total insurance loss. The figures for the entire calendar year of 1903 are: One thousand one hundred and twenty-eight losses handled, total insurance involved $100,403,082, and an insurance loss of $4,610,815.77. If this amount were reckoned to represent about two-thirds of the entire losses for the metropolitan district the total loss ratio would then work out, approximately, forty per cent. for the year 1903.

CORROSION OF ARCHITECTURAL STEEL

At the Insurance Experimental Station in Boston, of which Edward Atkinson is director, Professor Charles L. Norton has experimented in architectural steel, with a view to investigating its liability to corrosion. The conditions accompanying the test were as nearly identical as possible with those which would occur with steel in actual use. The results obtained were in every respect highly encouraging, more especially as the tests to which the steel was subjected were probably more severe than would be the case in any building. Each specimen of this series was cleaned, cut to the proper length, and incased in Portland cement concrete of various compositions. The concrete was allowed to set twenty-four hours in air and seven days in water, after which their exposure was as severe as could be devised. After varying lengths of time the cement casings were broken, and the inclosed metal cleaned, weighed and calipered. Professor Norton then came to the conclusion that, judging relatively from the effects of the less severe, but longer test of time "structural steel is safe from corrosion, if incased in a sound sheet of good concrete, at least for a period of years so long as to make the subject of more interest to our great-grandchildren's children than to us. We know that bare steel does not rust and fall down over night, and that much of the steel standing has been bare of everything that could protect it for long years, and it seems to be beyond question that steel properly covered in concrete may well be expected to last far longer than the changes in our cities will allow any building to remain." Professor Norton devotes considerable space to the subject of the necessity for thorough mixing, and incidentally shows the incorrectness of the view that, when cinder concrete is used, the sulphur it carries is likely to promote corrosion. He also combats the notion that a thin coating of rust protects the steel, and insists that, if rust once starts, it will be found extremely difficult to avert its evil effects. Mr. Atkinson adds a prefatory note on the subject of electrolysis and its effects on structural steel. He says: "Whether or not the steel footings or supports of high buildings, when imbedded in damp ground, may be corroded by electrolysis from leaking currents from an electric trolley track is a problem which requires immediate solution. If there is such a danger, it may, perhaps, be met in existing buildings by incasing the footings of such buildings in an asphalt concrete, absolutely impervious to moisture. Dry steel may carry electric currents without injury. The electrolysis of dissociation of the steel occurs when the current leaves the metal, passing into damp ground or other wet substances. Possibly, a remedy, if this evil exists, may be found by attaching a conducting wire to the steel footing, and thus carrying the electricity derived from the trolley track to some other point. Of course such currents should be cut off if possible lest they cause danger in steel-framed buildings above the footings or supports."—Fire and Water.

THE RUINS OF THEBES

Thebes, Egypt, at the present time presents ruins twenty-seven miles in circumference. The remains of many of the buildings, such as columns, arches, etc., are of such gigantic size that no modern machinery would be equal to the task of taking them down, to say nothing of putting them in their present positions.

WHAT WE ARE WORTH

If Pierpont Morgan owned the world instead of only a part of it he would be worth about $400,000,000,000. If he owned the United States his wealth would amount to about $40,300,000,000. The United States has the greatest total wealth and the smallest debt of any of the world's great powers, but on a per capita basis Great Britain is the richest. While the property and money of that mighty nation amounts to only $50,000,000,000 as against our $40,300,000,000 its wealth amounts to $1,442 per person, while in the United States the wealth amounts to only $1,235 per capita. The second richest nation in Europe is France, which has wealth aggregating $48,000,000,000, of $1,257 per capita. Germany's wealth foots up $40,000,000,000, or $709 per capita. In addition she has $800,000,000 lent or invested abroad. Russia, with its immense territory and population, has wealth amounting to only $32,000,000,000.

HOUSES WANTED IN MANILA

An office has recently been established in the White Hall Building, New York, through which all supplies for the Civil Government of the Philippines are now purchased. Paul S. Carter, who is the purchasing agent, has just completed a catalogue of more than 700 articles which he has bought on requisition from the Civil Government to meet a great house building boom there.

Mr. Carter says he has spent $600,000 on supplies in the last few months, largely for building purposes, because there is a struggle against high rents in Manila. Great purchasers of paint, to make old Manila look like new, and incidentally as a protection against bugs, are included in the outlay. Our paints promise to stick, he says, for they are mixed with oil, not with water, like the Filipino paints.

As to rents, the purchasing agent says that the rent of the Metropole Hotel, for instance, was $75 Mexican a month at the time of the American occupation, but the hotel now rents for $500 in gold a month. Houses which used to be occupied by one family are now occupied by three or four families. Anyone who had rented all the vacant stores which the army found on entering the town and had then sublet them would have made money at the rate Mrs. Hetty Green made hers.

It is on this account that the people are beginning to put up their own houses. Mr. Carter is making great purchases of lumber from the Pacific Coast. In Manila lumber costs $100 per 1,000 feet, but the Government is shipping it for $12 per 1,000 feet and paying the freight. The Insular Purchasing Department, which Mr. Carter says "does not buy the cheapest goods at the cheapest prices, but the best goods at the cheapest prices," is doing much to make American homes a possibility.

THE PENN MUTUAL STATEMENT

For fifty-six years the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, of this city, has been solving the problem of successful business management until now it has culminated with a most remarkable showing of success under the wise and efficient management of its president, Mr. Harry F. West. As a local institution the success of the company is probably without a parallel. This is as much owing to Mr. West's predecessors as to himself, because without their solidity Mr. West's opportunity would have been absent. 1903 was certainly a great year for the Penn Mutual, for while as a matter of fact it eclipsed all other years as to the volume of new insurance effected, as well as the aggregate of insurance in force, it distinctively characterized its management by its increase in all other directions.

From the statement it will be seen the total increase in premium income to $12,050,665, or in other words a gain of $1,122,052, is most remarkable. The company's net income from interest and rent increased $278,094, and its aggregate increase from all sources reached $14,840,718, which is a gain of $1,400,150. The company paid during the year for death losses, endowments and annuities, $3,826,723, besides which dividends to policy holders were allowed, thus reducing the cost of their insurance or adding to its amount $7,321,086. These and other payments to policy holders were $55,497 in excess of the preceding year. It will be seen from the statement of the company the gross assets now amount to $61,116,235, against which there is held a reserve of $53,210,666. Other liabilities amount to $482,101. The sum of these deducted from assets leaves a general surplus of $7,423,468. The year 1903 was begun with $270,000,000 of insurance in force, and at its ending it was found that there were 120,317 policies, representing insurance amounting to $38,786,093. The mortality last year was extremely favorable, for while the insurance tables justified the expectation of losses amounting to $4,273,801, there was really incurred during the year but $2,792,131, or roughly stating, there was sixty-five per cent. of the tabulated estimate realized. This is certainly remarkable, for while during a long series of years the losses have averaged but seventy-two per cent. of the table anticipations, it will be noticed that there is a clear gain of seven per cent. to the company's advantage for 1903. Best of all the insured have had the benefit of this favorable mortality results by way of dividends allowed in the reduction of premiums or to accumulate as they might elect. Very valuable gains of surplus from this source have been made in former years. From 1896 to 1902 inclusive, $4,827,000 was saved to policy holders, and the saving last year amounted to $1,481,070. This voices more than anything else the extreme care exercised in the medical selection of proper risks, as looseness or want of care in that direction might otherwise inflict a serious penalty on the company. Right here it must be recognized that while the science of tabulation is a safe basis on which to accept risks, the proper care in medical examination of applicants is much better and infinitely more profitable. When it is understood that the company's business, which now embraces every State and Territory in the Union, is under the direction of the energetic vice-president, Mr. George K. Johnson and his associates, it will be seen that the labor involved in the details of this department is simply immense. The prosperity of the company reflects the highest credit upon its officers in that the great machine which it is with its many departments running without a single jar, and all aiming to produce certain results, can give to the public such a striking example of success as the present statement.

WARM UP!

Cold weather has little influence—mental or physical—on the subscribers of the "Real Estate Record." There is to our enthusiastic readers a mine of wealth in our building news columns throughout the year.

The man full of business energy digging out nuggets of gold with pick and shovel, doesn't worry much about the cold, and this holds good as to the fellow who strikes it rich in the way of contracts for work and material. Warm up! A subscription costs but $5.00 per year, always in advance. Office, 46 N. Eleventh street.

THE RIGHTS OF PROPERTY OWNERS VS. RIGHTS OF TELEPHONE COMPANIES

Judge Beaver of the Superior Court of Appeals, at Scranton, Pa., on January 21, handed down an opinion that the telephone companies of this State possess no right of eminent domain to enter upon or take lands for their poles or any thing else under such right for their own use or convenience; that owners of properties abutting on the highways own and control the highways to the effect that they must be consulted and compensated for the poles placed thereon, notwithstanding the act of 1874.

That the telephone companies are not the constituted agent of the State to exercise the right of eminent domain, that neither have the courts of the State the right to make limitations for companies asserting such right, that the only power to make limitations belongs to the Legislature, which is the granting power.

A SNAP IN FINE OAK MANTELS

The Hall-Kline Company, 1927-29 Market street, offers one hundred or more mantels at greatly reduced prices, owing to want of room, which is badly needed for Spring trade.

These mantels are first-class in every respect; they are strictly up-to-date as to design, finish, etc.; of different designs, all oak and in prime order.

This is certainly a snap for our operative builders as the price is only about 30 per cent. of the regular price. This sale is owing to the consolidation of the Hall and Kline firms.

Easy Working Ternes

U. S. Eagle N M, and M F, are the perfect ternes for easy and satisfactory work. Bearing a very heavy coating of pure tin and new lead—hand dipped—they are very pliable and flexible; and for the same reason are impervious to water and weather. For more than 60 years M F was the world's standard for roofing, but U. S. Eagle (New Method) is an improvement on this excellent product that makes it near copper in its rust-resisting properties. The ternes being so much superior to any other brand ever produced, we would like to place a sample in the hands of every architect, contractor, builder and roofer who is not acquainted with this great advance in roofing. Free, prepaid, on request. Our products are for sale by all first-class wholesale metal houses.

J. Howe, A. A. Moore, D. T. Denmead, and others.

At Gloversville, New York, the bids sent in for the erection of National Guard Armories at Gloversville and Oneonta have been rejected by the State Armory Commission as they were beyond the appropriation of $50,000 each for the buildings. New bids will probably be called for.

At St. Louis, Mo., it is stated that $1,000,000 has been left to the city by Mr. Robert A. Barnes for the construction and endowment of a large hospital. The site of the structure will probably be at Garrison avenue and Glasgow place. Mr. Smith P. Galt is said to be one of the members of the Board of Trustees of the hospital fund.

The other five are Albert Randolph Ross, of New York city; Pilcher & Tachen, of New York; McKinn, Mead & White, New York; Russell & Gardner, St. Louis, and F. M. Andrews, Dayton, Ohio. Each of these architects will be paid two hundred and fifty dollars for his work and as many other architects as desire may submit plans but they will receive no compensation unless the plans are accepted. A VALLEY OF DEATH IN BOLIVIA.

There is a valley in Bolivia, South America, which might well be called the Valley of the Shadow of Death. It has been inhabited for an indefinite period of years by the Kanaa Indians, who are kindred to the various South American tribes and number now only a few hundred souls. That they were once a very powerful tribe is indicated by the condition of the land which they as a tribe still inhabit. One cannot travel any distance through their land without coming upon the old and forsaken burial grounds of the Kanaa dead. These places cannot be called graveyards, for the bodies are not buried, but rather placed upon elevated platforms, wrapped in the garments of death and bound to the crossbeams that they may not be displaced.

In one of these burial grounds there will be probably fifty high skeleton platforms and on each will lie from three to five of the Kanaa dead. The air in that part of Bolivia is very pure and preservative, for it is one of the highest plateaus of the continent, although Kanaa valley is just a little below the plateau's height. A traveler passing through that land at night and by moonlight would be awestricken at the gloomy vision those graveyards present.

VANISHING ISLAND

One of the most curious islands in the world is one known on the charts as Falcon Island. It is curious from the fact that it appears and reappears at intervals in the most exasperating manner and has been doing this ever since 1888, when it was first taken possession of and charted.

This island is one of the Tonga group, and when, in 1888, England took possession of it her officers found it crowded with palm trees and tropical vegetation. The highest bluff was some 153 feet above the sea level, and on this the union jack was planted. But only a year later the island had disappeared. The cliff was represented by a low lying, dangerous reef and there was not the remotest sign of vegetation. For thus making away with itself Falcon Island was speedily wiped off the charts.

But in 1892 a French man-of-war re-discovered it and duly planted the tri-color flag thereon. At that time Falcon island afforded for the planting of the flagstaff a cliff twenty-five feet high at the southern end (the bluff mentioned above was at the northern end), and it was covered with a growth of green bushes and ferns. But Falcon island did not behave any better with its new possessors than with England, for in April, 1894, it had again done the vanishing act, only a streak of reef remaining.

About a year later the Tongan government took it in hand and went to find Falcon Island. They did find it with a vengeance, for when they arrived they found an island with bold, steep sides, the highest point being fifty feet above the sea level. It was taken possession of in the name of King George of Tonga and formed part of his possessions until 1897, when it again disappeared, apparently for good that time, for since then, unless it has reappeared quite recently, it has not been heard of.—New York Commercial.

VOL. XIX.—No. 5

PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1904

$5.00 PER YEAR.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

A Remarkable Case of Super Self-Assertion Without a Shadow of Fact to Justify it.

THE STORY.

In November, last year, the writer called on Mr. Borton, who is the sales manager as well as the gentleman who places the advertising of the Haines, Jones & Cadbury Company, 1136 Ridge avenue, this city.

His purpose in going was to procure an advertisement of that concern for the columns of this journal.

Mr. Borton was cordial in his greeting, and as pleasant and affable as any man could be.

In the course of the conversation which ensued, the writer remarked that the Philadelphia Real Estate Record was prepared to rise or fall on the basis of the estimates the architects of this city placed on its merits and worth as well as its value to them.

Mr. Borton, in reply, asked how this fact could be established, to which the writer suggested that he, Borton, make a canvass of the architects, and settle the question for himself.

To this Mr. Borton replied that he couldn't do it, that his business was to sell goods, but he would have his salesmen do it.

About January 6, 1904, the writer again called on Mr. Borton and resumed the conversation by asking him if he had had the proposed canvass of the architects made.

"Yes," he replied, "but they (meaning the architects) do not seem to know much about it, for while they admit that they get the paper they know nothing about it, as they never read it."

"Is this the fact, Mr. Borton?" the writer asked, to which he answered, "Yes." "Then it is very evident," the writer said, "That on such a status so conclusively established we have no right to expect an advertisement from your concern for 1904 at least." "No," he answered, when with a courteous "good day" we retired.

Now, right here we desire it understood that we have no issue with the Haines, Jones & Cadbury Company, for that concern justly merits the respect and confidence of every one. It is an important factor in the business life of this city and State, and it has its special prerogative to patronize such journals as it pleases, and when and where it pleases, and no man has a right to question its right to do so.

Were it not for our inherited ancestral predilections and our love for a fair fight, besides a natural characteristic to want a fair show for our "white alley" under all circumstances, we would have treated the event as an episode in the life of a newspaper man who had earnestly tried to do his whole duty to both his patrons and readers.

It is no wonder then that we asked Mr. James J. McBride, the city editor of this journal, to make the canvass which Mr. Borton never had made—all the Bortons on God's earth to the contrary notwithstanding.

The architects were requested to write to the proprietor of this journal and to frankly state their opinion of it; if they received it, if they read it, if they found the news generally correctly reported and if the paper was of any value to them.

The following letters will show how these gentlemen have responded, and from their contents the reader will be able to judge the true status of the Real Estate Record as well as the correctness of Mr. Borton's statement.

We were unable to find a single architect in the whole city who had ever been asked a single question as to the Real Estate Record by any salesman or other representative of the Haines, Jones & Cadbury Company.

We respectfully invite some reliable head of the Haines, Jones & Cadbury Company to examine the originals of the following letters and to confirm our statement as above through any investigation they may make.

We not only read the notices, but are often attracted by the advertisements which catch our eye and we turn over the pages. Mr. John N. Gallagher,

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your inquiry as to our valuation of the "Real Estate Record and Guide," we beg to say that your paper is thoroughly appreciated by us. We never miss reading the editorials, real estate reports, the summary of the sales and judgments of the preceding week, and we often consult the advertising columns in getting the correct firm name and the goods handled in preparing specifications, and giving information to sub-contractors.

We keep on file in our office clippings from the "Record" of items that particularly interest us. This especially refers to the report on the Lien Law and the progress of the building trade by wards. The Real Estate Record and Guide is kept on file in our office and is frequently consulted by clients, contractors and material men.

While our daily papers give excellent real estate news there are some very important news items peculiarly of interest to architects which are only published in your paper. Hoping this will convey to you somewhat of our appreciation of your publication, we beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

EDITORIAL

In the present issue we present a long list of testimonials from the architects of this city, setting forth in terse phrases, and in no ambiguous terms, the value of this journal to each of them personally, and to the building and real estate interests of this section generally.

It cannot be said by any one that during the eighteen years of uninterrupted publication of this journal that we have been in the habit of inflicting our readers with a profusion of self admiration or journalistic puffery. In fact, we have always refrained from such indulgences however gratifying. We cannot recall a single instance except one wherein we have published a testimonial letter from an architect. While we have received hundreds of them, and were accordingly gratified, we preferred to let our own columns testify weekly as to their own worth and merit.

The present presentation of a bookful of testimonials is without a single example as a precedent for a journal of this nature in the United States, and, indeed, this is an extremely modest statement, for we are sure that we would be justified in saying a journal of any kind.

The circumstances which made the publica-

Our intention was and is even now to harm no man, but the God-given inherent law of self defense is the single thing which no self-respecting man or community of men will yield under any consideration.

We have a generous kindly feeling for all concerned, and for the gentlemen who have so generously stamped upon every page, column and line of this journal their dignified and personal approval as to its value, its efforts to be correct and above all its decency and self respect, we have the highest personal esteem and appreciation.

ARCHITECTS' NOTES

Isaac Pursell, architect, 119 South Fourth street, is making plans for an addition to the present chapel of the St. Paul Presbyterian congregation at Fifth street and Baltimore avenue. The plans provide for the extension of the chapel and erecting a new building. Will be ready for bids on the extension the latter part of this week.

Chas. E. Oelschlager, architect, Harrison Building, has completed plans and specifications for a new stable for Thomas Drummond, to be built at Eighteenth and Jackson streets. It will be two-stories high, 18x36 feet and will be built of brick. It will have all the latest sanitary stable appointment. The owner will take bids on this stable.

The programs of the proposed new Carnegie Library to be erected at Broadway and Line street, Camden, N. J., at a cost of $80,000, have been sent to all the architects in Camden county and the four architects previously mentioned. All competitive designs are due in the office of John J. Rice, 420 Kaighn avenue by 12 o'clock March 5th.

Easy Working Ternes

U. S. Eagle N M, and M F, are the perfect ternes for easy and satisfactory work. Bearing a very heavy coating of pure tin and new lead—hand dipped—they are very pliable and flexible; and for the same reason are impervious to water and weather. For more than 60 years M F was the world's standard for roofing, but U. S. Eagle (New Method) is an improvement on this excellent product that makes it near copper in its rust-resisting properties. The ternes being so much superior to any other brand ever produced, we would like to place a sample in the hands of every architect, contractor, builder and roofer who is not acquainted with this great advance in roofing. Free, prepaid, on request. Our products are for sale by all first-class wholesale metal houses.

THE PAVEMENTS OF PARIS

The paving of the Paris streets and boulevards dates as far back as the end of the twelfth century. In the year 1184 Philippe Auguste commenced replacing the beaten ground by stone paving. The localities first treated were the square of the Chatelet, the routes of St. Antoine, St. Jacques, St. Honoré and St. Denis. The modern streets of the city of Paris are supplied with four different classes of paving, viz., stone, macadam, asphalt and wood. There are still a few streets remaining of the ordinary earth composition, but they were originally the property of individuals, and are fast being replaced by other compositions as they come under the control of the municipal authorities. The estimated amount of stone road paving is 1,670,094 square yards, the cost of which is estimated at 14s. 6d. per square yard, and the cost of maintenance at 7d. per square yard; 446,048 square yards of asphalt, estimated cost of laying 13s. 3d. per square yard; maintenance is 1d.; total surface of wood paving, 1,339,520 square yards; cost of laying 14s. 9d.; maintenance 1s. 3d. per square yard. The macadam paving, although an enormous amount has been used, is not placed in the quantities, the cost to the city of Paris being stated alone at £259,294, at 4s. 10d. per square yard, and 2s. 1d. maintenance. The paving stone are generally in block form, 6, 7 or 7½ inches high, of hard stone. Paving blocks of porphyry are not used now, being considered too slippery. The cost of putting down this paving includes the sand bed, from 5¼ to 7¾ inches thick. It is estimated that the entire cost of the stone pavements has been £4,442,377.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, FEB. 24 1904

BALTIMORE FIRE MATTERS

There were destroyed by the recent fire no less than 95 warehouses and other buildings belonging to estates under the direct control of the Safe Deposit & Trust Company of Baltimore. These buildings were completely destroyed and represent the loss of an annual rent list of about $18,000. These buildings were insured for $950,000, with also about $100,000 insurance on the rents during rebuilding.

The main income of the Johns Hopkins Hospital came from rentals, and its loss of income from some 80 buildings with no insurance which were destroyed. The buildings destroyed belonging to this institution represents a total loss of about $1,300,000. They yielded a net revenue of about $150,000. This probably means the closing of the hospital. The adjustments of fire losses thus far have mostly been made upon the contents of the destroyed buildings, but few losses on the structures have been adjusted.

The insurance companies have established an exchange, and a committee on adjustments has been appointed of which Mr. Kemmerer, of Smith & Kemmerer, of this city, agents for the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Companies, is the chairman.

The fire lines are still rigidly maintained, and even the representatives of the insurance companies are excluded, except by spells, owing to the dynamiting of walls, etc.

Several Philadelphia builders and architects are already established in Baltimore and are looking for business. We suggest that this is the better way for those who hope for business in this direction.

It is difficult to obtain correct building news. The losses on the following buildings have been in the whole or only in part adjusted:

S. W. Landis, owner, two brick buildings on Hawkes street and Water street below Holliday street.

Chas. Lens, owner and builder, brick building, 706 E. Lombard street.

Wm. Munsen, trustee, a block of brick buildings, 17-19-21 Light street.

J. Appleton Wilson, builder and owner, large brick building at corner Water and Market streets.

It is proposed to widen many of the streets in the fire district; this, if carried out, will greatly interfere with the rebuilding of the properties destroyed. See Baltimore notes.

AMERICAN WOOD IN GERMANY.

Kölnische Zeitung, a German commercial journal, says that imports of wood into Germany from the United States have more than trebled since 1880, amounting in 1902 to more than $5,850,000. It consisted mostly of pitch pine. This wood is more resistant to the weather and costs much less than oak, which averages $3.47 per 35.3 cubic feet, while pitch pine costs only $1.66 for the same amount. Owing to its utility and cheapness the pine is handled in the most remote parts of Germany. It is used for making doors, windows, floors, etc., while oak is used in the manufacture of finer grades of furniture.

HE SOLD LIGHTHOUSES.

Success.

Four traveling men were seated in the smoking compartment of a Pullman, being whirled through a Western state. The condition of trade formed the subject of conversation, and three of them confessed, dubiously shaking their heads, that they had not sold a bill of goods for a week. "Well, I haven't made a sale for two months," said the fourth man, with a smile. "And your people keep you on?" asked one of his companions. The fourth man nodded. "What in the thunder are you selling?" broke in another. "Lighthouses!" said the fourth man.

The speaker was F. Hopkinson Smith, best known to the public as an artist, author and playwright. Painting and authorship, however, are diversions with Mr. Smith, the planning and building of lighthouses being his serious task. No business man in America works harder than he over dry details and calculations, and in the summing up of what he has accomplished in his life-work he says the most satisfactory achievement to him has been the construction of Race Rock Lighthouse in New London harbor. Its construction involved a six years' battle with the elements, a continuous fight between sea and man, and no one can wonder that Mr. Smith takes pardonable pride in its successful issue. "The mastery of Race Rock," he says, "helped and strengthened me and showed me the wisdom of depending upon myself."

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, MAR. 2, 1904

BALTIMORE FIRE AND BUILDING NEWS

The proposed widening of many streets and the consequent changing of the building lines together with many proposed changes to the building laws are delaying the issuance of building permits.

Mr. James Preston, chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection, informs us that no building permits will be issued until the Mayor, who has been ill, resumes his official duties. These permits will be issued with the street widening clause, and there will also be a provision against the extraordinary height of the new buildings, as Mr. Preston assures us that the erection of the sixteen-story buildings will not be allowed.

The Union Trust Company's building, partly injured by the fire, has been condemned and the walls will be torn down; this will, of course, necessitate an entirely new building. There has been bulletined at the Fire Insurance Companies' Exchange, on Saratoga street, the following buildings, the losses on which have been adjusted:

E. C. Summit, brick, 13 N. Charles street.
James B. & S. C. Mason, 17 to 23 N. Charles street, brick.

American Lumber Company, brick storehouse, Jenkins' wharf.

Gus. H. Evans, brick, 112 S. Calvert street.
Estate of Thomas Defort, brick, 102 Hollingsworth street.

The Baltimore Company, brick, 6 McClellan street.

Sarah Rosanstock, brick, 46 W. Baltimore street.

The loss on the Chamber of Commerce will be settled by appraisers, and Henry Braun, architect, 113 West Saratoga street, has been commissioned to draw plans for a new building. Mr. Braun will send us description.

The First National Bank Building, on South street below Baltimore, will be rebuilt.

The Baltimore Morning Herald will erect a new building on the old site, corner St. Paul and Fayette streets.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will rebuild at St. Paul and Baltimore streets.

The German National Bank will rebuild at Baltimore and Holliday streets.

G. Riddlemorse will rebuild office building on Fayette above Charles street.

The Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company will rebuild warehouse at Long Dock, Baltimore.

The Baltimore Sun will rebuild at Charles and Baltimore streets.

The Baltimore American will rebuild a $10,000 building corner South and Baltimore streets.

The Daily Record will rebuild a five-story building at St. Paul and Fayette streets.

The new Law Building, nine-story, will be erected at St. Paul and Lexington streets.

The architects have, without a single exception, personally assured us that no information will be given for publication until the questions of street widening and the changes in the building laws have been definitely settled.

The Government will purchase the land bounded by Exchange Place, Water and Gay streets and will make a lawn in front of the new Customs House.

As soon as the insurance is adjusted the following firms will also rebuild: William G. Scarlett & Co., 208 to 226 Spear's wharf, 42-405 Cable street and 228 to 230 Commerce street; S. F. & A. F. Miller & Co., 39 Hopkins Place; Cohen, Adler Shoe Company, 40 Hopkins Place; J. Seth Hopkins & Co., 18 to 20 East Baltimore street; Mendel's Bros., 22 Hanover street, and Charles F. Henderson, 526 to 528 Union wharves.

We are informed that a combine has been formed, which includes architects, builders, and owners, with the object of confining the making of the plans as well as the contracts for work and material exclusively to the residents of Baltimore.

The bill to make new parks in the burnt district has been killed, but the following streets will be widened: Hopkins Place, Hanover, Charles, German, Light, Lombard streets, Exchange Place, Baltimore, Platt and Balderon streets.

MCBRIDE.

THE JOSEPH DIXON CRUCIBLE CO.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company, of 1020 Arch street, has again been compelled to enlarge its quarters and increase its facilities. It has taken part of an adjoining building, and in addition has completely remodeled its office and salesroom; and for convenience and general attractiveness the place of business is now unsurpassed by any wholesale house in Philadelphia.

The extraordinary success of the Philadelphia branch of this company deserves more than passing notice. Not so many years ago, a small store and three individuals were sufficient to carry on the business. At present, it takes a large corps of bright and active young men, with a large office and salesroom. This branch is under the supervision of a Philadelphian, William J. Coane, to whose progressive management Philadelphia owes the rapid growth of this business.

The Dixon Company is the inventor of the Black Lead Crucibles, but it is better known to the general public as the manufacturer of the famous Dixon's American Graphite Pencils and the celebrated Dixon's Silica-Graphite Paint. It manufactures graphite products for every known purpose, and throughout the civilized world there is hardly an industry, or man, woman or child that does not use its products in some form. It is the largest concern in the world of its kind, the factory plant in Jersey City covering 3 1-3 acres and consisting of 22 buildings. Aside from this it owns its own graphite mines in Ticonderoga, New York, which are well known to the scientific world for the unrivaled quality of flake graphite they produce. At Crystal River, Fla., it has large cedar mills, which prepare the wood for its pencils. It has branch offices in Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia.

J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, architects, 1421 Chestnut street, have completed plans and specifications and sent same out to builders for estimates for alterations and additions to the Mercantile Club, at Broad and Master streets. Bids due March 5. John W. Emory is bidding.

Adin B. Lacey and William Charles Hays, associate architects, 101 Walnut street, who won in competition the erection of the new Y. M. C. A. building at Chester desire to announce that the working plans will be ready for bids in the late Spring. The proposed new Y. M. C. A. building is to be built at a cost of $80,000.

Morris & Vaux, architects, Stephen Girard Building, have completed plans for the building of a soup house to be built in the rear of 1015 South street. It will be two stories high, 33x22 feet, and will be built of brick. Bids due March 5. The following builders are bidding: R. C. Ballinger & Co., John R. Wiggins, B. Ketchum & Son, Stacey Reeves & Son and Geo. L. Sipps.

Henry D. Dagit, architect, 431 Chestnut street, will invite proposals in a short time for the new rectory for the Roman Catholic congregation of St. Columba, at Twenty-third and Lehigh avenue. It will be three stories high, 40x75 feet and will be built of granite and stone. Mr. Dagit will soon send plans out for the basement of the proposed new church for the same congregation to be built at the same place.

BUILDING AND REAL ESTATE NOTES

Chas. Gulpin, builder, Pennsylvania Building, has the contract for fireproofing in the new building at 1016 and 1018 Chestnut street for George B. Wilson.

C. E. Schermerhorn, architect, 430 Walnut street, has awarded to Shoffner & Brothers, of Norristown, the contract to remove the present house and build a new stone residence located on the southwest corner of DeKalb and Basin streets, Norristown, for Mr. Abram T. Eastwick. The house contains twenty rooms including two bath rooms and is forty feet and six inches square. The contract includes hot water heating, gas piping, electric lighting, panel wainscoting in hall and dining room, green slate roof, modern plumbing, hardwood floors, brick and tile fireplaces, leaded glass, cement cellar floor, etc.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

DYCKERHOFF PORTLAND CEMENT

E. THIELE, Sole Agent, 99 John Street, New York

Made in Germany and used in the United States for more than twenty-five years. The high esteem in which it is held is due to its correct chemical composition, great strength and constant uniformity—perfections which have not been approached by any other cement.

TIN ROOFS IN THE BALTIMORE FIRE.

It is claimed by an eye witness of the great Baltimore fire that had it not been for the general use of tin for roofing purposes the fire would have been even more serious. Indeed the counter-air currents produced by the great heat swept the embers in all directions. Many of these were of large size and falling on well covered tin roofs were harmless. In many cases, however, where the roofing was of inflammable material the most heroic efforts on the part of occupants and owners failed to save the buildings.

This incident of this great fire has already awakened architects and owners to a proper realization of the value of tin as a fire proof covering to such an extent as to control many decided assertions that specifications in future will provide for tin as a roof covering.

A fire proof roof is a good deal like a policy in a reliable and capable fire insurance company, for the fellow owning either doesn't run a scintilla of the risk and worry of the other fellow who for the sake of pennies jeopardizes his dollars by the thousands.

The question is like that of the Japanese maiden, who said that it was better to lie a little than to be unhappy much, for just a little more money than the kind of a roof that no one wants in a crisis costs will compound happiness in the way of assuring safety a great many times more than all the lying in Christendom.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. Philadelphia, March 10, 1904.

Mr. John N. Gallagher, Publisher,

"The Philadelphia R. E. Record and Builders' Guide."

Philadelphia.

Dear Sir:—We have read with interest, your article appearing in the last issue of the "Philadelphia Real Estate Record and Builders' Guide," on the subject of tin roofs and the Baltimore fire. We should like to state, through your columns, that we have prepared ourselves to fill promptly orders for our genuine "OLD STYLE" roofing tin, for use on the roofs of buildings at Baltimore, damaged by the recent fire. This tin can be furnished at once either in boxes or put up in rolls, ready to put on the roof. It is recommended not only for covering roofs, but also fire doors and shutters. It is not generally known, perhaps, that a wooden shutter or fire door covered with asbestos sheathing paper and then with "TAYLOR OLD STYLE" tin makes one of the best fire partitions known. This style of shutter is light and practically fireproof, and is not subject to distortion under extreme heat, as in the case of shutters made of iron or steel.

Architects specifying this high-grade brand for any of these purposes are assured that there will be no delay on our part in supplying the material.

Very truly yours,

N. & G. TAYLOR CO.

T. Frank Miller, architect, Lippincott Building, will move to larger and more commodious offices at 1126 Walnut street, second floor front. Mr. Miller will be located at his new offices on April 1.

Heacock & Hokanson, architects, 937 Chestnut street, have completed revised plans and specifications and sent same to D. W. Sperry, builder, 1305 Arch street, for the proposed new edifice for the Calvin Presbyterian congregation to be built at 26th and Master streets. Bids due March 26.

Isaac Pursell, architect, 119 South Fourth street, is working on new drawings for the new rectory of the P. E. congregation of St. Martin's, to be built at Oak Lane, Philadelphia. It will be two-and-a-half stories high, 40x60 feet, and will be built of stone with all modern improvements. Plans will be sent out for bids in a short while. Mr. Pursell announces that he will award the contract on or about April 1 for the new edifice for St. Paul's Presbyterian congregation to be built at Fifth street and Baltimore avenue, this city, as designed by him.

H. L. Reinhold, Jr., architect, 1002 Chestnut street, has completed plans and specifications and sent same out to builders for estimates for a twin house for Mr. Richard Kildie, to be built at Rosemont, Pa. It will be two-and-a-half stories high and will have a porch on front. Bids due March 25. The following builders are bidding: Gray Bros., W. T. Worrell, of Rosemont, Pa.; J. D. Lengel, Jos. It will embrace the following numbers: 601-03-05-07 South street, 522-24-26 South Sixth street, and will extend back to Rodman street. The new plans show a building of three stories and basement high, with a fire tower, instead of two stories, as was originally intended. It will be built of brick and slow burning construction and will measure 60x90 feet. Plans will be ready for bids in one week's time.

Wilson, Harris & Richards, architects and engineers, Drexel Building, have completed plans and specifications and sent same out to builders for estimates for a handsome new residence to be erected at Chester, Pa., for William M. Powel, Esq. It will be three stories high and will be constructed of stone. The interior will be in hardwood finish and it will have the usual appointments. Bids due April 1. Strunk. It will measure 27.6x37 feet. The interior finish will be in chestnut, cypress and white pine with enamel finish. It will be heated by hot water, wired for electricity, modern plumbing, cement cellar floor, plate and leaded glass and will contain eleven rooms and bath, with all conveniences. The following builders will submit their bids to the owner on March 29: F. L. Hoover & Son, Inc., D. W. Sperry, Burd P. Evans, of this city; John J. Kaudie, of Lansdale, and Leidy B. Heckler, of Ambler, Pa.

J. C. M. Shirk, architect, 421 Chestnut street, has completed plans and specifications for a cancer building to be erected on the grounds of the Home for Incurables, at Forty-eighth and Woodland avenue. It will be three stories and basement high and will measure 112x58 feet, and will be constructed of brick, concrete, iron and terra-cotta and will be fireproof. It will accommodate 25 patients with private rooms, baths, diet kitchen, X-ray room, operating room and will have toilet rooms and baths on each floor for nurses and patients. It will be heated by steam, wired and lighted by electricity and will be thoroughly up-to-date in all its appointments, making it the most complete building of its kind in the country. The bids are due March 28. The following builders have been invited to bid: Geo. F. Payne & Co., Stacey Reeves & Son, George Watson, Thomas Little & Son and James A. Bradin.

At Altoona, Blair county, a special meeting of the School Board was held last week at which it was decided to erect a high school to cost at least $200,000. It will probably occupy a site at Sixth avenue and Fifteenth street. The proposed structure will be three stories high, of Hummelstown brownstone and will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1200, a gymnasium, classrooms, manual training departments, domestic science department, lunch-rooms, offices for superintendent, directors and secretary's rooms and lavatories. The following architects have been invited to submit plans in competition: Frank A. Hersh and A. J. Shollar, of Altoona; William L. Plack and Seymour & Paul Davis, of Phila.; C. M. Robinson, of Pittsburg, and Boyd & Mynton and J. A. Dempwolf, of York, Pa. The successful architect will receive five per cent. of the contract price and prizes of fifty and twenty-five dollars will be awarded to the second and third best plans. The time for deciding the contest and selecting the plans has not yet been decided.

Chas. W. Bolton and John J. Dull, associate architects, Witherspoon Building, plans have been accepted in competition by the Building Committee for the proposed new Y. M. C. A. Building to be erected at Ridgway, Pa., at a cost of $30,000. It will be three stories and basement high and will be built of stone and brick with terra-cotta trimmings, and will measure 96x75 feet. The gymnasium, bowling alley, shower bath and shuffleboard will be in the basement. The first floor will contain game room, office, lobby, reading room; second floor will have auditorium to seat about 400 persons and class rooms; third floor, sleeping rooms. It will be heated by steam, wired for electricity, etc. Working plans will be ready for bids in a short while. The same architects have also won in competition the proposed new fire house to be built at Conshohocken, Pa. It will be two stories high with a finished basement and will measure 35x60 feet, and will be built of brick and terra-cotta. The first floor will be for the fire apparatus. The second floor, hall for social purposes. It will be some time before working plans are prepared.

Geo. E. Savage, architect, 1704 Chestnut street, has been commissioned to prepare drawings for St. Andrews' Evangelical Lutheran new church and parsonage to be built at Sixth and Riter streets. The church will be two stories and gallery high. It will measure, including the parsonage, 70x85 feet. The first floor will contain Sunday-school proper; the second floor, church and infant room. The gymnasium will be over the church. It will be heated by steam, wired for electricity and will have the usual church furnishings. The parsonage will be three stories high. The proposed new structures will be constructed of stone. It is the intention of the congregation to dispose of their present chapel, now at Fifth and Watkins streets, before they will build their new buildings. However, it is expected this will be accomplished soon, and working plans will be ready for bids in the early Spring.—Mr. Savage is also working on plans for the new edifice for the Seventh Baptist congregation to be located at Seventh and Kaighn avenue, Camden, N. J. It will be two stories and gallery high, 50x70 feet, and will be constructed of brick and stone and will have slate roof. It will have the usual church furnishings and will cost $12,000. It was originally intended to make alterations and additions to the old church. Plans were prepared but this has been abandoned and a new church decided on.

POOR BALTIMORE

Can there be anything suggested which can be made more expressive of the impotent and unwise policy of that sentiment which inspired the so-called combination of owners and builders, which practically said to the outside world, "Keep out, these ruins are sacred; our greatly impaired business facilities are part of our misery and subjugation on which we shall feast our souls for ages. Rehabilitation? Yes, but not for years to come. It is not with us as with others, for while we know that our great business centre is wreck and ruin, which means loss of trade and prestige and future growth and prosperity, we still prefer the slow and easy methods of repairs through our own architects and builders and material men, instead of rising Phoenix like from the ashes as other American cities have done in the past. The idleness of thousands of our citizens, the loss of business opportunity, while meaning millions of dollars, are nothing to us if we can succeed in keeping out the foreigners." If this is not the meaning of the combination, what does it mean?

We, personally and collectively, know that stagnation in an ultra form prevails in business circles in Baltimore to-day through the apathy of municipal officials and the domination of this selfsame sentiment to which we have referred.

Of course, there is much dissatisfaction as well as kicking among the sane members of that community, but we of Philadelphia can only pray that the rest will undergo a change of heart and welcome rehabilitation regardless of sentiment, mistaken economy or prejudice.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

THE MAN AND HIS BOND

Every one knows the genial and hustling Ned Hollis, which is the euphonious short cut for Edw. A. Hollis, the hardware man, at 1904 Market street.

Mr. Hollis, besides being a popular hardware dealer, is also the agent for the Morse Patent Bond, which is frequently specified by architects and purchased in great quantities by builders.

The fact is that under the present brick laying method of doing without headers, a bond is absolutely required unless the fellow who does the building is willing to take the chances of the structure tumbling down before he can find a lamb foolish enough to buy it.

Tons of the Morse Patent Bonds are sold weekly right here in this city. Hollis says they are the best in the market.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

F. WEBER & CO.'S NEW DOTTING INSTRUMENT FOR ARCHITECTS AND ENGINEERS.

The mechanical end of the professional arts and sciences requires delicate and reliable as well as efficient tools, for while a bricklayer might even lay bricks with a carving knife, an architect would certainly make a poor showing if compelled to draw his sketches and plans with a coal shovel.

Right here comes in the old and popular architects and engineers' supply house of F. Weber & Co., 1125 Chestnut street, this city, with branch houses in St. Louis and Baltimore. With business shrewdness as a result of many years of practical experience, Mr. Weber soon recognizes the value of new good things for architects and engineers, and wastes no time in hitching them on to both the stock and catalogue of the concern.

Riefler's new dotting instrument, so constructed as to make dots of six different styles and four different lengths, both separately and conjunctively, and Riefler's fountain ruling pen, a novel and ingenious application of all the good qualities of the well known fountain pen, are F. Weber & Co.'s latest acquisitions.

The reputation of the Riefler's is a guarantee that these two instruments are the best in the market.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

"It's the best bodied

Paint I ever used,"

said a skeptical painter as he came down from his ladder. He had been using

"Dixon's Silica-Graphite Paint" somewhat against his will, but in a manly way acknowledged his error, and was ready to stick to "DIXON'S" after his experience.

You know what it meant—BEST COVERING, BEST SPREADING, NO WASTE of time getting ready, MOST ECONOMICAL.

You know also that it meant putting together the BEST material in the BEST manner and in the right proportions.

It could not give BEST RESULTS if all these did not precede. The DURABILITY of

"DIXON'S SILICA-GRAPHITE PAINT" is unquestionable.

WOODS' STEEL CORNER

It is a patented steel strip that is fastened to lath, or other construction, on projecting corners, is embedded in the plaster and prevents it chipping. It does a great deal more, but our book, "Just Around the Corner," tells the rest. Send for it. A sample, too, for the asking. It costs less to put Woods' Steel Corner in a building than to keep the corners repaired.

THE CHARLES WARNER COMPANY'S NEW BOOKLET

In a very elaborate illustrated booklet circular issued by the Chas. Warner Company, of Wilmington, Del., it is stated that 100,000 square yards of cement pavement were laid last year with Nazareth Portland Cement at the National Capital, and, in fact, Nazareth was exclusively used for all cement pavement laid for the District of Columbia.

It is also estimated that 25 per cent. of the Nazareth Portland Cement produced this year will be used for cement pavements.

This is not because Nazareth is less adapted for other work, but because a sidewalk of cement work according to the Warner Company's circular will develop faults and signs of wear the quickest, and cement pavement workers recognize this and demand the very best; besides which the fine texture and smooth working qualities of Nazareth permit of a beautiful finish, and the color is always uniform; a dark blue gray.
